OVERVIEW of ACTIVITIES
The Board of Directors met three times this year. Emphasis was placed on establishing marketing and promotional activities and to conduct research to assist in the betterment and development of Nebraska’s grape and wine industry. The Nebraska Grape and Winery Board approved $3,900.50 from the winery and grape producers’ promotional fund to pay for the Nebraska Winery and Grape Growers’ Association’s (NWGGA) marketing and promotional activities conducted this fiscal year. This money was used to pay for the creation of a Nebraska Wine Trail Map brochure. The brochure is a marketing piece to promote Nebraska’s vineyards and guide visitors to our state’s wineries.

The Board also approved the allocation of $3,000 to the University of Nebraska – Lincoln Viticulture Program to pay for two projects. The first was to begin an interdisciplinary project to monitor vineyards in several parts of the state for environmental and pest parameters, with a goal of garnering information that will enable the Viticulture Program to provide assistance to Nebraska’s grape growers and ultimately help the wineries as they pursue identification of terroirs and possible establishment of American Viticulture Areas in Nebraska. The second was to begin conducting an experiment to compare the performance of important Nebraska-grown grape cultivars on different trellis systems.

Promotion of Nebraska’s grape and winery industry is a primary goal of the Board. The Board helps the grape and wine industry become a strong and important part of Nebraska’s thriving economy. They support NWGGA activities, pay close attention to recent legislation, which effects Nebraska’s grape and wine industry, and work closely with the University of Nebraska to receive guidance and education regarding research in this industry.

The Board approved a budget. The Treasurer’s report indicated an ending cash balance of $261.11 as of June 30, 2005. It should also be noted that expenses from the previous year were not turned in before the end of the 2003-2004 fiscal year. As a result, these expenses, in the amount of $3,954.50, were submitted and paid this fiscal year (July 1, 2004, to June 30, 2005).

The minutes from the meetings, this year’s contracts, the budget, by-laws, and statutes can be found on the following pages.
President Eric Nelson opened the meeting at 7:16 p.m. Minutes of the March 5, 2004, meeting were approved after amending them to read “all votes taken met unanimous approval.” Motion to approve made by Jeffers, seconded by Curttright. The agenda was modified to delete the University of Nebraska Report.

Under Old Business, Foster reported that total allocation for the fiscal year is $5,395, including $29.94 revenue for the month of August. Contractual expenses carried over from last fiscal year are approximately $4,000. Our goal is to keep the ending cash balance around $500. Additional funds were allocated to a Wine Quality Assurance Program. A copy of the report is attached.

Under New Business, the Board discussed a request from the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission to provide a recommendation and advice in deciding (1) if a “natural disaster” did occur that may allow a waiver of the 75% requirement, and if so, (2) what should that requirement be reduced to? A request has been received from Jim and Sharon Shaw from Soaring Wings Vineyard & Winery. The decision to waive or not, would be made by the Liquor Control Commission.

President Eric Nelson suggested we need to, first, define a natural disaster as it relates to our industry and, second, determine if it did happen to Soaring Wings Winery.
The Board discussed several events that may or may not qualify as a disaster such as adverse weather conditions, tornados, hail, floods, site selection, attempting to grow varieties that are not appropriate for this area, and some techniques that could prevent the potential damage. A concern was voiced by several Board members that it was important to create a level playing field for all wineries, both new and existing, to not create a situation where poor viticulture practices or bad business decisions would necessitate asking for a waiver on a regular basis. Since statutes/regulations only allow a one-year waiver, repeated requests may indicate a situation (such as site selection, variety choice, etc.) that may not qualify as a natural disaster. Some discussion centered on what could be done to prevent damage from birds, such as netting noisemakers, etc., and to prevent frost damage. Techniques such as irrigation, smudge pots, length of time, etc., can help when temperatures decline to approximately 25°F, but can be expensive and their effectiveness is affected by the factors such as air movement, humidity, timing of bud break, (early this year in some areas). In a “freeze” situation (below 25°F) nothing seems to very effective, but secondary or tertiary buds may still produce. It was suggested that detailed weather records by the applicant could help verify these situations. It was also suggested that maybe an independent team of growers could go to some of these locations at that time to help determine if a disaster had occurred. The timing and size a hailstorm and its effect were also discussed. Shaw presented data showing the losses of not only his vines but of his contracted growers to help.

Moody moved and Jeffers seconded, that “It is the Grape and Winery Board’s position that for waiver requests of the 75%/25% rule, the definition of a natural disaster should be limited to weather-related losses that take into consideration, commonly held good viticulture practices.” The motion carried unanimously.

Discussion was then held on the question of in, “what amount should the 75% requirement be reduced to?” Soaring Wings provided documentation of actual loses incurred in its vineyard and its growers, and would like approval to have the ratio changed to approximately 67.7%/32.3%. This would effectively exclude losses from bird damage, and still allow them to use the 1,570 gallons of non-Nebraska juice (at a higher price than they would have paid for Nebraska juice) they have available. Concern was expressed that there should be no financial advantage if a waiver is approved, and any price differential should be paid to the Grape & Winery Board or the NWGGA.

Moody moved and Ryan seconded, that “The Grape and Winery Board recommend the Liquor Control Commission grant the waiver request from Soaring Wings to change the gallonage ratio to 68%/32%.” The motion carried unanimously.

Discussion then centered around recommending the Liquor Control Commission modify its regulation to require future applicants pay to the Grape and Winery Board any price advantage when non-Nebraska grapes are purchased.

Curttright moved and Ryan seconded that “In order to protect the integrity of the Nebraska wine grape industry, any waiver granted that results in an economic advantage because of the purchase of out of state agricultural products as opposed to Nebraska grapes, should be paid to the Nebraska Grape and Winery Board.” Motion carried, four ayes and one (Moody) absent.
The next meeting is scheduled for November 6, 2004, at 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. at UNL East Campus, room to be arranged.

Draft minutes of this meeting will be made available to the Liquor Control Commission for their September 30 meeting.

Meeting was adjourned at 9:12 p.m.

President Eric Nelson opened the meeting at 7:35 a.m. Oaths of office were taken and notarized by Carola Strauss for the members present, and will be mailed to those absent. Jeffers moved and Ryan seconded that the agenda be approved as presented, with a few additions under new business. The motion carried unanimously. Ryan then moved and Jeffers seconded that the minutes of the September 16, 2004, meeting be approved after correcting a few grammatical errors. The motion carried unanimously.

Under Old Business: Eric Nelson explained the budget report, and the need to allocate an additional $1,500 was discussed. Dr. Read indicated that these funds could help “buy in” additional funds from other sources for the University’s viticulture research program. Jeffers thought we should try to allocate 30% of our available funds in the future to the University. Ryan moved, and Jeffers seconded that we allocated $1,000 to the University’s Viticulture Program, and $500 to the NWGGA for additional promotional activities. The motion carried unanimously. Jeffers moved and Ryan seconded that it be our policy to support the University’s Viticulture Program with 30% of the income from crush fees, check-off dollars, and other sources to be reviewed by the Board as necessary. The motion carried unanimously. Jeffers also suggested that we get together with the wineries and develop an informational letter to be sent to the State Senators informing them of the impact this industry has on the state and of all the exciting things happening in our industry.

Under New Business: Eric Nelson presented a couple of drafts of a survey that would be sent by the Department of Agriculture to all Nebraska Vine Lines recipients to try and get a handle on the acreage and varieties currently growing in the state. Previous attempts by the University and the NWGGA have been inconclusive. The survey should include a return envelope to the Department of Agriculture. Darrel Nelson suggested a letter be included to explain the purposes and possible use of the data. Jeffers and John Fischbach volunteered to help stuff envelopes, etc.

Eric Nelson reported that the wineries should be the driving force behind the Quality Assurance Program that is in development and the NWGGA’s newly created Winery Council may be the group to handle it. We previously allocated $1,000 for this project. Jeffers indicated that the system that Pennsylvania uses might be the best approach to start with.

It was decided to also send our public notices to Dave Hanna, NWGGA’s new web site coordinator, to be included on their web site.

Ryan briefly mentioned that the U.S. Supreme Court would be hearing a case regarding interstate wine shipments in December, and felt we should be ready to provide any applicable information to assist the Governor and Legislature if changes are necessary in state law to comply with the ruling.

The next meeting was tentatively set for 7:00 a.m., Friday March 4, 2005, at the Kearney Holiday Inn, in conjunction with UNL’s Spring Forum.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:30 a.m.

In the absence of President Eric Nelson, Jim Jeffers opened the meeting at 7:34 a.m. Curttright moved and Ryan seconded that the agenda be approved as presented. The motion carried unanimously. Curttright moved and Ryan seconded that the minutes of the November 2004 meeting be approved with the addition of adding Paul Read’s presence. The motion carried unanimously.

Under Old Business: Curttright moved and Ryan seconded that the current officers be re-elected. The motion carried unanimously. Foster reviewed the budget with the Board. Curttright moved and Moody seconded that we approve it. The motion carried unanimously. DeeAnn Hrdlicka reviewed the current activities of the NWGGA and their use of allocated funds. A copy of the report is attached. Discussion then followed on the need for more promotional funds and other grant funds that may be available. Jeffers felt the biggest problem is recognition that Nebraska wines are an alternative for established wine tastes. We need to match those tastes to our wines. James Arthur Winery has developed some cards to hand out that make those comparisons. Carol Ringenberg and Sharon Schilling showed some examples of promotional brochures used in other states, and asked that the Board help fund the development of 25,000 “Wine Trail Maps.” These maps would replace the current, outdated NWGGA brochure and would be used throughout the state, at rest stops etc, and would be easily update-able. Preliminary work has begun with the help of a UNK intern. Nebraska Department of Tourism funding had been applied for, but was not approved. The NWGGA plans on reapplying next year to continue the project. Examples of similar brochures from Missouri and Pennsylvania were viewed. Jeffers indicated he was concerned with the use of USDA grant funds by some wineries that created a competitive advantage over other wineries. DeeAnn and Sharon indicated that the NWGGA is considering applying for funding through USDA’s Value Added Program, but it is a lot of work, requiring an approved business plan first, which VAP funds may help with, before operating funds can be applied for. Once the grant is announced, there are approximately 45 days to write and submit an application. This USDA program also appears to be one that may not be funded at all next year.

Moody moved and Curttright seconded that we allocate an additional $2,000 to the UNL Viticulture Program this fiscal year (in addition to the $1,000 that was allocated at the November meeting), retain about $500 for administration, and the balance to the NWGGA to use funds for the Wine Trail Maps. The motion carried unanimously.

Under New Business: The July 1, 2005-June 30, 2006, budget was discussed and adopted. Curtright moved and Ryan seconded that we continue to retain only $500 for administration. Of the balance, 30% was allocated to the UNL Viticulture Program and 70% to the NWGGA. This would include the funds for NWGGA’s Quality Assurance Program. The motion carried unanimously. Paul Read indicated that Steve Menke from Pennsylvania was part of tomorrow’s program to discuss their quality assurance efforts.

Ryan, Paul Read, and John Fischbach discussed the status of LB 323 that would allocate $50,000 of state general funds to the Board. They felt testimony at the Appropriations Committee hearing left a very positive impression. The Bill is still in Committee at this point. The NWGGA legislative dinner held February 24, in Lincoln, was well attended and was also very informative for the Senators that were there.

Paul Read gave an update on the University’s activities and on the Conference. The research vineyards are now six to eight years old and are providing much more useful data. This year’s multi-state field day will be held in Iowa, and two field days are scheduled near Springfield and Ogallala this month. Today’s conference will include information on the health benefits of wine and a discussion of the National Grape and Wine Initiative, which may make some federal funds available for smaller state programs. Funding for the UNL Viticulture Program is short, but they are scrapping by.

The next meeting of the Board is scheduled in conjunction with UNL’s fall forum, probably in November.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:55 a.m.

Winery Promotion Brochures – The current winery promotion brochure has been widely distributed throughout the state and surrounding states. The purpose of the brochure is to promote the Nebraska wineries and encourage travel and tourism in the state of Nebraska. Many new wineries have been established and need to be added to the brochure. The current marketing committee has designed a new fold-out style brochure including all NWGGA member wineries and tasting rooms selling only Nebraska wines. Competitive bids are being gathered, and brochures need to be printed soon.

Research and development of NWGGA Executive Director position – The NWGGA is considering hiring an Executive Director as many agriculture associations have. As the NWGGA has grown, the demands on the organization have grown. We have more and more opportunities for promotion, events, and media exposure. We need someone to manage those areas as well as develop a statewide marketing initiative. It is critical that, before moving in this direction, the NWGGA research and carefully develop the position description as well as any legalities that may result.

Public Education/Promotion – Educate the public on Nebraska grape wine varieties, through the use of presentations and product tasting in several cities across the state. The public will learn and appreciate the varieties grown in Nebraska (Edelweiss, LaCrosse, deChaunac, etc.) as they compare to the more commonly known varieties grown elsewhere (Merlot, Chardonnay, etc.).

Trade Show Display Updates – The current trade show displays were developed with grant monies in 2000. With the number of new wineries and the growth of the industry, in general, these displays need to be updated. In addition, with the number of requests the NWGGA is receiving to present, the organization needs a larger number of displays that can be distributed in regional areas throughout the state. Part of the monies would also be used to update the speakers bureau presentation. The current presentation is still on slide projector format. The plan is to update to a Microsoft PowerPoint presentation that could be easily distributed electronically to anyone in the organization who has been called upon to speak locally.
